The Murder of Two Siders - The telegraph briefly mentioned, on Saturday, the murder at Gardner, Mam, on Tuesday night, of two sisters named Kneeland .-The Boston Herald says:

The discovery was made on Wednesday evening in the following manuer: A young man living a short distance from the house. went there to obtain some milk; finding no person stirring, he knocked at the door no one suswering, he went to the barn, and seeing the cow had not been milked and a window being broken in the house. he proceeded to arouse the neighbors, who entered the bouse and found the bodies of one of them lying upon the bed and the other upon the floor-both in their night clothes. An are and olub were lying in room, the axe having no blood upon it, but the club being covered with blood, as also the ceiling above. The ages of the murdered were 85 and 75, and they were said to be objects of charity. No object can be essigned as the cause of the murder, as they were very harmless and inoffensive people. A Frenchman was arrested on suspicion, but discharged, there being no proof of guilt against him.

Later: Returns have been receive from 181 towns, more than two-thirds of the State. Metcall has thus far received 27,091 votes, Baker 21,102, Bell 2,409, Fowler 831. Metcalf's majority over all others is 2.749. The full majority from the whole State will probably be between 2,500 and 3,000. As far as heard from. the Know-Nothings have elected 187 Representatives to the Legislature, the Democruts 53, and the Whigs 5. A large portion of the Know-Nothings are elected by candidates to the Administration are all probably elected, as well as all the members of Congress, all State Senators, and will of course elect two United States Senators,

The wounded man having been secured. made a full confession, in which he stated that an organized band of robbers was in the country, and that the ringlesder lived ! in Lincoln or Pike counties.

The Murder of Tru Sisters -The telegraph briefly mentioned, on Saturday, the murder at Gardner, Mass., on Tuesday night, of two sisters named Kneeland.-The Bost in Herald says:

The discovery was made on Wednesday evening in the following manner: A young man living a short distance from the house. went there to obtain some milk; finding no person stirring, he knocked at the door -no one suswering, he went to the barn. and seeing the cow had not been milked and a window being broken in the house, he proceeded to arouse the neighbors, who entered the house and found the bodies of one of them lying upon the bed and the other upon the floor-both in their night clothes. An are and club were lying in room, the axe having ne blood upon it, but the club being covered with blood, as also the ceiling above. The ages of the murdered were 85 and 75, and they were said to be objects of charity. No object can be assigned as the cause of the murder as they were very harmless and inoffensive people. 'A Frenchman was arrested on suspicion, but discharged, proof of guilt against him.

Parties are now on the track of another person suspected, and the Selectmen of the town have offered a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the assassin.

The New City of Leavenworth,-The Kansas Herald gives the following account of the growing prospects of the new city of Leavenworth :

Five months ago there was not a building in the place. The town had just been laid off, and the brush cut down. A sale of lots took place in October. Since that time the progress has been onward, and so emerging from the brush, the town now presents a city-like appearance, with a population of near three hundred, and between seventy-five and one hundred buildings have
